What is your understanding of the purpose of the seminar you are applying for? Name a few of the reasons that you are interested in participating in this seminar.

As stated in the description of the program, by offering this seminar the Institute for Studies in Global Prosperity hopes to create a space where participants can explore ways in which they can participate more effectively in the discourses of society. What is your understanding of the phrase “discourses of society” as it is being used by the Bahá'í community? List a few examples of situations where you have had the opportunity to participate in a discourse in this manner.

As you know, the title of this seminar is “Discourse and Social Transformation: Achieving Coherence.” What is your understanding of social transformation? In a few sentences, describe the activities in which you are engaged in terms of social transformation.
